

Dana-Farber Cancer Institute – Seminars in Oncology Presents

THE SUSAN SWERLING LECTURES

The Interplay of Genetics & Micro-Environment in Cancer

Tuesday, May 20, 2014

2 – 5PM

Jimmy Fund Auditorium
35 Binney Street - Boston

Hosted by: Ronny Drapkin, M.D., Ph.D.

“Catch Me If You Can: Primary and Acquired Chemotherapy Resistance in Cancer”

David Bowtell, Ph.D.

Peter MacCallum Cancer Center – Melbourne, Australia

“Matrix Control of Adaptive Responses to Targeted Therapies in Breast and Ovarian Cancer”

Joan Brugge, Ph.D.

Harvard Medical School – Boston, MA

“Interactions Between Ovarian Cancer Cells and the Micro-Environment During Metastasis”

Ernst Lengyel, M.D., Ph.D.

University of Chicago – Chicago, IL

